NANYANG TECHNOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY SINGAPORE

DA2002 Submission Assignments

Instructor: Mr Jaxton Su

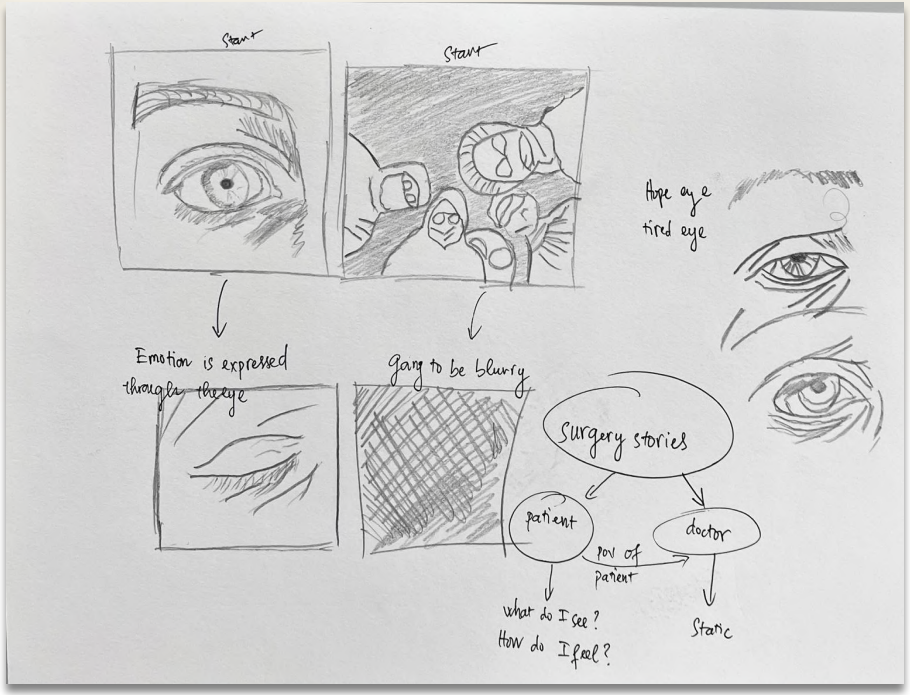

Student name: Nguyen Tuan Anh

Assignments Summary

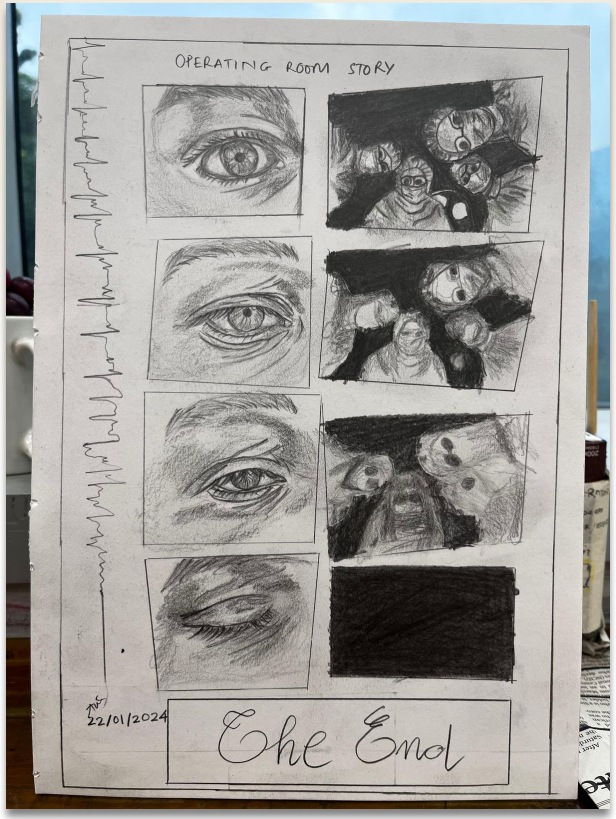

Section Title	Description
Week 1	9-panel black and white storyboard
Week 2, 3	Collage of an imaginary space
Week 4, 5	Poster Design of a film
Week 7	3 monotype prints based on the theme of seven deadly sins
Week 8, 9	1 poster that addresses a social issue using linocut printmaking
Week 10, 11	Still life painting with childhood theme
Week 12, 13	Working for Final Project

Week 1: Ideation Sketches

My preparatory sketch employs contrast, alignment, and balance, with a rhythmic repetition of eye motifs to emphasize the theme of sight. I've placed sketches and annotations to create hierarchy, and utilized space to focus on the emotional and narrative exploration of vision.

Week 1: Operating Room Story

"In an operating room, every sketch captures a moment of intense emotions; the anticipation in the surgeon's eye, the tension reflected in the focused gazes, and the fatigue creasing the weary faces. When a crisis arises, everyone joins in unified, silent support. As the story comes to a close, the final sketch darkens, leaving only an eye closing in peace. It whispers, 'The end,' concluding the intense, silent journey."

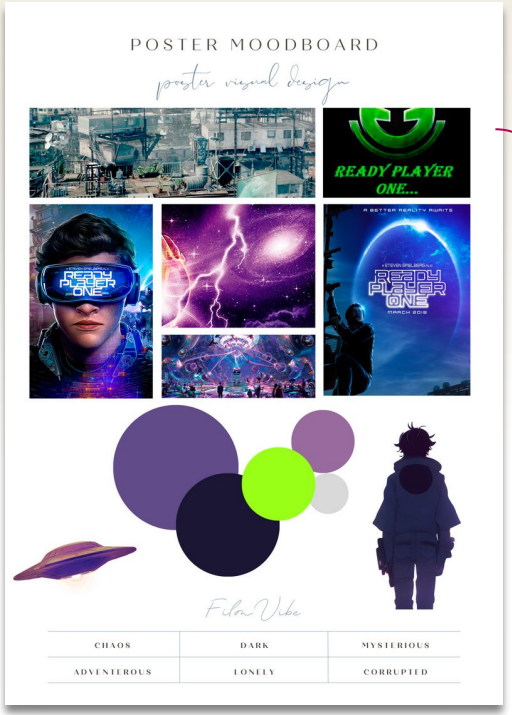

Week 2, 3: Bathroom of Imagination

“In the whimsical bathroom of imagination, a panda bartender shakes bamboo cocktails, while a cow chef grills steaks with a giggle. A dinosaur reads on the toilet, as smoke named jerry-fish twirls into the air. Here, absurdity reigns, and the mundane transforms into magic.”

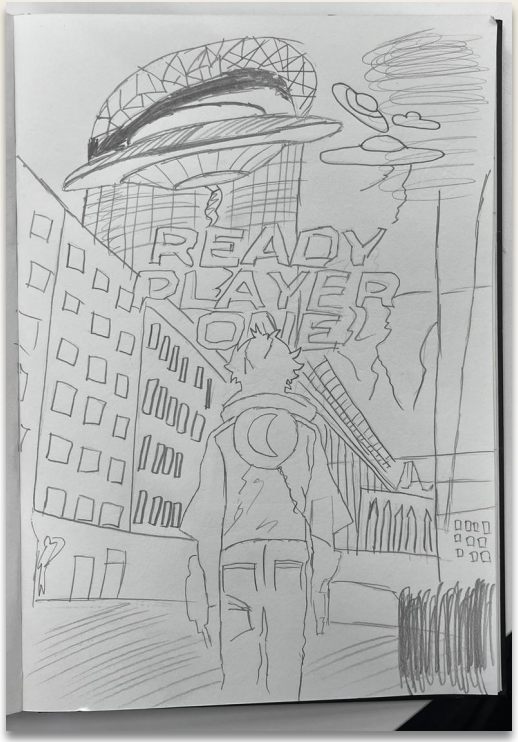

Design principal: contrast, balance, repetition, and unity

Week 4, 5: Ready Player One Poster

Moodboard

Thumbnail sketch

In creating this poster, I aimed for a vibrant, sci-fi look. The neon green title against the purple hue creates a striking contrast, while the charged lightning and luminous spaceship enhance the thrilling, futuristic vibe.

Week 4, 5: Developmental design

Week 4, 5: Ready Player One Poster

Original poster

Redesigned Poster

Week 7: Monoprinting 7 deadly sins

Greed

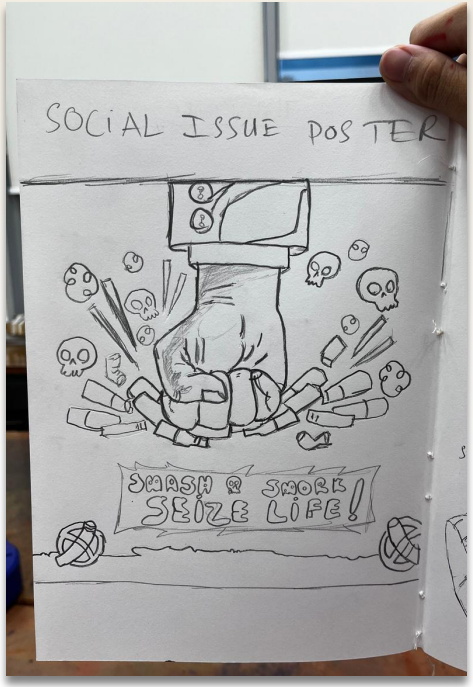

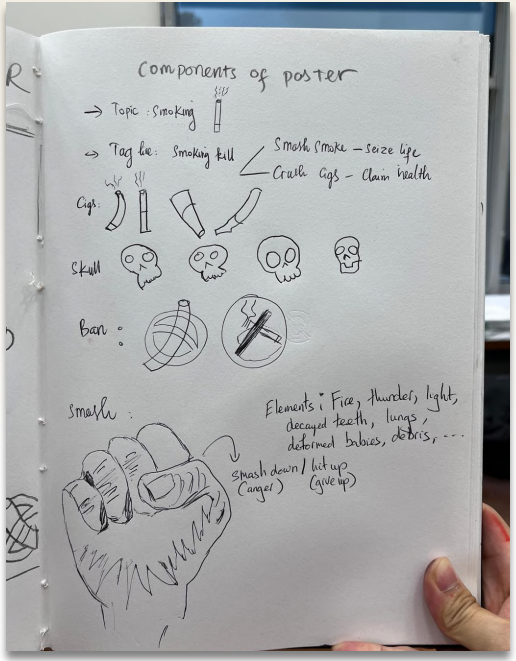

Pride

Lust

Week 8, 9: Linocut poster progression

Week 8, 9: Linocut poster progression

Week 8, 9: Linocut poster progression

Week 8, 9: Smash Smoke, Seize Life! Poster

My linocut poster was designed to convey a stop-smoking message through contrasts and energetic composition. The yellow gold backdrop radiates positivity, while the central brown fist and striking red text create urgency and call to action, with surrounding elements adding a touch of daring defiance.

Week 10, 11: Composite Still-Life Captures

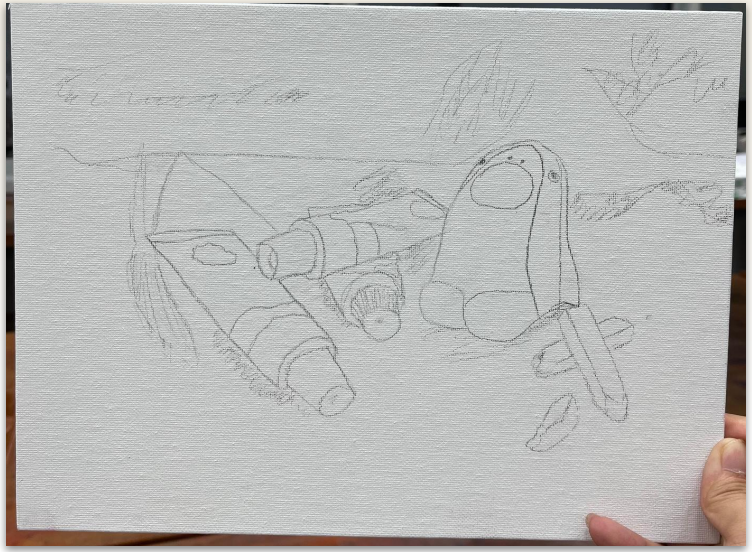

Chosen picture

Week 10, 11: Still-life painting - Progression

Thumbnail Sketch

Developmental Painting

Week 10, 11: Still-life painting - Completed Artwork

In creating this piece, I hoped to playfully brighten a traditional still life using vivid colors and light-hearted shapes, with the dark background offering contrast and depth to the composition.

Week 12, 13: Working for Final Project

Thank you

